CLUB OPENS ON MONDAY FOR SEASON

The Covina Woman's club, under the leadership of its president, Miss Lilian Douglass, has planned an interesting program for the year, in which all of the old members and many new ones will undoubtedly participate. As usual, the regular meetings will be held on the second and fourth Mondays of each month. Mrs. L. S. McClain is vice-president, Mrs. I. Worth Everett, financial secretary, and Miss Lucie Warren recording secretary.

The first program, to be given next Monday, will be presented by the board of directors, a play entitled "Say It With Flowers." A violinist of note, Mae Gates, will give several selections, accompanied by Claudia Williams, a member of the Sylvan trio. Miss Gates was a student of F. R. Franco in New York for five years and played abroad during the late war. The musical numbers will be especially fine, and a home talent play is always a drawing card.

The programs arranged for the year include several university extension speakers, among them Sir John Adams, Captain Paul Percord and Dr. Frederick P. Woelner. Dr. Raymond Brooks of Claremont and Dr. E. S. Moore of the University of Southern California are scheduled to appear. Miss Helen Broadwell will give a musical, and the Sylvan trio, of which Miss Lucie Warren is a member, will have an afternoon. The Olivers of Long Beach are dated for a musical travesty. The dramatic section will give three or four productions during the season. Reciprocity day will be observed, and special music provided for each evening. With this store of musical and intellectual treats, a record attendance is foretold this year.

Among the social affairs, Christmas parties will be given for the juveniles, the high school boys and girls, and the college students, not forgetting the usual entertainment for the Mexican children.

The sections have been assigned as follows: travel section, Mrs. J. D. Bixby, Sr.; home economics, Mrs. W. F. Lutyen; art and needlework, Mrs. W. J. Evans; literary, Mrs. David Unruh; history and landmarks, Mrs. Mary M. Conan; garden, Mrs. E. G. Prather; drama, Mrs. E. H. Sprague; French conversational, Miss Helen Broadwell.

The ways and means committee, Mrs. J. M. Whitel, chairman, has planned several interesting events which will be remunerative as well as entertaining. The opening event will be a manufacturers' supper on the 18th day of this month. Mrs. J. H. Wilke will give a card party in November. Food sales, in charge of Mrs. Hobart Cushman, will be held at intervals. An "old-fashioned party" will be planned by Mrs. Wm. Crook. The Christmas market will be supervised by Mrs. Dora Shearer, and a Washington's birthday dinner will be planned on February 22nd by the chairman, Mrs. Whitel.

Valley of Saint Subject of New Book by Wilson

"The Dagger," an extended poem, with its locale in the San Gabriel valley, is the latest literary output of that versatile genius, Bingham T. Wilson, whose ranch and home is situated at the corner of Citrus and Cypress avenues, in Covina.

Its theme is woven from the earlier days of Alta California, when the dons were here. A fascinating tale runs thread-like through the lyrical stanzas, but the poem is notable chiefly for its descriptive charm. The Sierra Madre mountains, the great vale of the San Gabriel, and the distant sea are apostrophized in lines of real literary beauty. The first volumes of the press, bound in maroon limp leather, are in every way suitable as gift books. The Wetzel Company, Los Angeles, published the book, and the illustrations are by Herbert Rasche. Liberal space in the back of the book is devoted to an appendix, in which valuable data bearing upon the early days of the Southland, is printed.

Mr. Wilson, known as lecturer, rancher, inventor and writer, is the author of an extended line of published works, which include "The Tale of The Phantom Yacht," "The Village of Hide and Seek," "Ye Mountain-coer," "The Hypocrite," and others.

Covina Fans Get Super-Service in Baseball Hook-Up

Play by play of the world baseball series, punctuated by the roar of the vast throng of fans on eastern fields three thousand miles away, came clearly through the loud speakers on Covina streets each day this week, while groups of local business men, ranchers and laborers discussed every strategy of the struggle between the titans of America's most popular pastime.

It was the first direct hookup of the annual playoff, games in past years being relayed by telegraph and broadcast by radio on the coast. In the local area the fans were indebted to Harold Houser's radio shop, the Stead electric shop, and the Covina music store.

"Just one more reason why the rural districts are the best places to live in these days," said Mayor J. N. Wilson. "We don't need to fight traffic and be deafened by the roar in congested areas in order to enjoy everything that the metropolitan town has to offer."

Local Road Work Given Impetus by Public Bodies

Extension of Puente street from Lark Ellen to Baldwin Park is under appraisal this week, the latest east and west road to be projected in the upper San Gabriel valley.

Work of appraisal is going forward on Arroyo Drive, which is a part of what is projected as the Pomona Holt avenue extension through the Covina hills and across the Covina valley to a junction with Garvey road, south of El Monte.

Surveyors are at work on Buena avenue, midway between Covina and Azusa, a part of the Arrow highway.

The Covina chamber of commerce, at a meeting on Monday of this week, took preliminary action toward the opening of Badillo street from Lark Ellen, along the Pacific Electric tracks to Baldwin Park. The San Gabriel Valley Development association, of which Murray Vosburg is president, and Myron J. Haig, executive secretary, is at work securing rights of way on several road projects, including portion of the Arrow highway east of the San Gabriel river.

Local Legion to Elect Officers

The call has gone out to all members of the local post of the American Legion to be present at the annual election of officers to be held at the Stone Lantern Monday night at 7:30.

For the first time in several years the election promises to be a real contest, as there are several candidates for each office except that of sergeant-at-arms, and the chances are that there will be some further nominations for that office just before the election.

The office of commander is naturally the most important one to be filled and there are four men in the running at the present time. These four are Russ Davis, Miles Scofield, Milton Burnett, and Charles Zug, and some of the rest of the post members are looking forward to an exciting time previous to the meeting with these four men electioneering for or against themselves, depending on how much they want the office.

There are one or two other important matters to come up before the meeting, probably the most important of which is the report of the committee appointed at the last meeting to draw up a more comprehensive plan for a clubhouse.

Cars Collide and Injure Passengers

A collision occurred last Sunday evening, at the corner of Grand avenue and Badillo street, between a coupe containing Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Snively of Azusa avenue and a Ford truck driven by three boys from the Masonic Home, Grant Chapin, Delbert Morrison, and Sidney Swartz. Chapin was picked up unconscious and all three boys taken to the doctor's office. The boys were not seriously injured and were able to be taken back to the home at once. Mr. and Mrs. Snively sustained only slight bruises and shocks. Both cars were badly damaged.

CITIES MOVE TO SPEED UP ARROW ROUTE

Members of the city councils of Pomona, La Verne and Claremont met at a dinner meeting at the Mountain Meadows country club last Thursday night, under an arrangement made by the San Gabriel Development association, and a plan was effected for the speeding up of the work on portions of the Arrow highway, which is to bisect the valley from the San Bernardino county line to Los Angeles.

Executive Secretary Myron J. Haig of the association outlined some of the problems still confronting this project, stating that much of the distance across the valley had been secured in rights of way, but that one particularly difficult point had been found between La Verne and Claremont, a portion of which lies in the city of Pomona.

Mayor S. H. Park of Pomona, Mayor A. Durward of La Verne, and Mayor L. C. Bell of Claremont were appointed as a committee to act immediately in securing signatures to a petition for the improvement in that section. Three routes at this particular point have been advocated. It is expected that the three cities working together can arrive at a satisfactory agreement with the property holders. Claremont's portion of the highway is already under construction, and contracts will be awarded this winter on several strips of the route through the valley to the San Gabriel river, it was reported. The tri-city committee will confer with the board of supervisors as to county participation in the project between La Verne and Claremont.

Participating in the project were: J. L. Matthews, Covina, vice-president of the association, who presided; Attorney Joseph A. Allard, city attorney of Pomona and La Verne; George S. Sumner, Claremont; W. H. Neher, La Verne; J. T. Dunlap, Pomona; H. A. Neher, La Verne; E. R. Blickenstaff, La Verne; M. J. Haig, executive secretary of the association; I. D. Yoder, La Verne; C. B. May, Claremont; L. C. Bell, Claremont; F. R. Lindsay, Pomona; Fred C. Froehde, Pomona; "Bob" Williams, La Verne; H. E. Belcher, La Verne; J. G. Zorn, Claremont; A. Durward, La Verne; S. H. Park, Pomona; D. H. Townes, Pomona.

In La Verne the Arrow highway will pass over Fourth street, one block north of the main business street, and will be a one-hundred-foot right of way. At La Verne city limits on the east, it is still undecided as to whether the route will be over Harrison avenue, Central avenue or Cucamonga avenue, in order to bring the route as far as Garvey avenue, the main thoroughfare north and south into Pomona.

Secretary Haig said that the county has already given assurances that as soon as the definite right of way is decided upon the county stands ready to participate generously in the cost. Forty per cent of the cost of road construction was borne by the county in the Claremont strip, it was revealed.

Methodist Pastor Returns to Church

Rev. George Steed, who served the Covina Methodist church for the past year, has been returned by the Methodist conference which has just closed. Rev. Steed is an energetic pastor and his return is welcomed not only by the members of his congregation but the citizenship at large.

Rev. G. Lawrence, who has served as a Methodist preacher at Honolulu for the past three years, has been sent to the Glendora charge. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence are well known in this county, as for several years before entering the ministry Mr. Lawrence was employed in a local bank. Before going to Honolulu he served as minister to the Monterey Park community church.

BRIDGE PARTY

Mrs. Edward L. Varney entertained forty friends at bridge Wednesday afternoon at her home on College street. She was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Charles L. Tidale of Alhambra. Mrs. Varney used the lovely fall flowers in decoration and carried out other appointments in the fall colors. Mrs. Ralph Crook was awarded the first prize for high score, Mrs. R. W. Crook for second score, and consolation fell to Mrs. Carroll Webb.

BRONZE MARKER PLACED ON HEADSTONE OF REAL DAUGHTER OF REVOLUTION

A memorable event occurred last Tuesday afternoon, when the Daughters of the American Revolution honored the memory of a real daughter of the Revolutionary War by placing a bronze marker on the headstone of Paulina Clapp Griswold. She was the daughter of Thomas Clapp, who was born in 1744 in Bethel, Vermont, and died in 1828. This patriot belonged to the Vermont militia at the outbreak of the Revolution and was one of the first to answer the call to arms. He fought in the battle of Ticonderoga in 1775. The war records show him to be on the payroll in Vermont in 1781, in the company of Captain Samuel McLain. He was cited for bravery in giving the alarm at Newberg on March 8, 1781. His grave is in the family burial ground on the old homestead at Royalton, Vermont.

Pauline Clapp Griswold was born in 1809. She became the wife of Chester Griswold in 1831. About 1860 the family migrated to Wisconsin and for nearly twenty years prior to that state. In 1879 Mr. and Mrs. Griswold accompanied their son, Thomas F., to the San Gabriel valley, where one of their sons, Eugene, had preceded them. Of this interesting family, Thomas F. remains, actively engaged in business affairs at the age of 89.

Stories of the Revolution were passed down from father to daughter, and on to the next generation, and still linger in the memory of their grandson, who recounts them today to his grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Beautiful indeed was the simple ceremony, out in God's half-acre, where the very breath of the pioneers seemed to be wafted on the breeze with every wave of Old Glory and the flag of the state. In just such a site would our pioneers choose their resting place—on the hillside where the march of civilization would not invade nor the floods from the canyons devastate. Nestled in the foothills, it is a beautiful spot and needs but the attention doubtless given it by the early settlers to make it one of the choicest landmarks of the San Gabriel valley.

The ceremony was participated in by three veterans of the Civil war, J. P. Smith, John Smith, and J. B. Raymond. The Spanish-American war was represented by William Hoogenlyk and Edwin Jobe. Mrs. C. T. Booth, regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, led the simple ritual of the chapter.

Among the descendants present on the occasion were Thomas F. Griswold, a son of Paulina Clapp Griswold; two grandchildren, Mrs. J. R. Elliott and William Griswold; two great-grandchildren, Mrs. William Viney and Mrs. Herbert Milliken; three great-great grandsons, Wil-

Covina Football Team Loses Tilt to Pomona High

Pomona Squad Shows Speed, But Was Weak at Passing Attack; Score 5-0

Covina took the short end of a 5-0 score Friday when the local high school football team met the Pomona team for a practice game on the latter's gridiron. The game was attended by a crowd that would have done credit to a league contest, and the players, especially the Pomona boys, played with all the spirit that usually marks a championship contest.

And Pomona made a splendid showing, having in their number many big and fast boys, including three outstanding players—Keough, Wilson and Vejar. Covina did not show to such good advantage, making poor tackles, fumbles, bad passes—playing a rather ragged game. The local boys excelled in just one department—that of passing and blocking Pomona passes. Throughout the game Pomona repeatedly tried to pass, but the Covina boys knocked down or intercepted every attempt.

"Zeke" Keough, Pomona quarter, might be called the star of the game, he being very successful in running back punts, twisting and dodging every attempt. The Covina boys were slow in getting down the field after punting, and several good kicks netted little gain. Other punts were either blocked or failed for distance. Needham did the best work for Covina, both at offense and defense, and plunged through the Covina line and tackled their ball-carriers. Chamberlain's work was also effective in keeping down the Pomona score.

Of course this was only a practice game and Covina boys gave their men a limited number of plays to use. It did, however, show up serious weaknesses which will have to be overcome before this year's Covina team can compare itself with that of the two past years.

Covina's best quarter was the first, when after a number of plays, Chamberlain attempted to make a drop kick and missed by inches. Needham did most of the ball carrying and made one gain of nine yards, followed by another gain for a down. In the second quarter Pomona worked the ball near the Covina goal, and being held for three plays, attempted a place kick which missed. This seemed to get Covina out of a bad hole, but the ball was buck on the Covina 2-yard line when the half ended.

In the second half there was a good deal of punting by both sides, with Covina the loser because Pomona made better run-backs. Then, with Covina near her own goal line, Temple made a bad pass back from center and Shaver was tackled with the ball back of the goal line, this safety giving Pomona 2 points.

After working the ball back and forth in the last quarter, Covina completed two pretty forwards, one for 15 yards and another for eight, but failed to complete a third and a fourth, drawing a penalty for the last one. After several plays by Pomona, a Covina punt was blocked in front of the Covina goal and Wilson placekicked for Pomona, making 3 points. This made the score 5-0, with the whistle blowing soon afterwards.

TODAY'S GAME

This afternoon Covina meets Chaffee union high school for a practice tilt at Ontario. Last Friday Citrus won over Chaffee 19-2. On this same day Monrovia defeated South Pasadena, so it looks as though Covina is going to run up against some stiff opposition in her own league.

FEDERATION MEETING OF WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS

The Woman's Relief Corps Federation No. 2, comprising Covina, Monrovia, Pomona, Ontario, Riverside and Redlands, was entertained in Redlands on Monday by the Bear Valley corps of that city, with the president, Mrs. Emma Sprague, presiding. Dinner was served by the entertaining corps, and a program provided.

The next meeting will be held in Covina in December.

Christian Science Talk Given Before Large Audience

As is customary in Covina, a large audience filled the grammar school auditorium on the occasion of the annual visitation of a national lecturer of the First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston, which occurred last Sunday afternoon. The speaker on this occasion was Prof. Herman S. Hering, who was introduced by Geo. Meek of the local church. The lecturer said, in part:

The teachings of Christian Science, on which the movement is founded, which constitute the basis of its practice and promises and which, to grow with their application, has been the cause of its tremendous growth, are clearly set forth in the textbook of Christian Science, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. Mrs. Eddy has also written other books, all of which emphasize, elucidate, and amplify these teachings in a variety of forms.

Anyone can learn exactly what Christian Science teaches by reading and studying these books, especially with the use of the two Concordances which greatly facilitates this study. Consequently there is no need for misunderstanding or controversy, for the teachings are plainly stated and, what is very important, Mrs. Eddy's own interpretation of her teachings can thus be learned. It is only in this way that the revelation can be seen free from misinterpretation.

The account of Jesus' life and works, as given in the New Testament, shows that he attributed the healing results he obtained to the power of God. Indeed, Jesus' healing was done to call attention to divine power and to awaken the sufferer to a right belief and faith in God, the first step in salvation and redemption. Christian Science is doing this through its teaching and healing, and surely this evidence of the presence and power of divine Truth and Love is greatly necessary throughout the world.

Christian Science is the Science of Christianity, namely, the exact, systematized, demonstrable knowledge of the Christ-teachings and their application to human redemption, bringing to mankind moral, mental, and physical healing.

When Christian Science makes it possible for this revealed Truth to come to our consciousness through understanding, it enables us to begin to recognize as unreal much that was formerly believed to be real; then it teaches us how to apply the divine Truth to this human error, which naturally corrects the error, and thus, through the brightness of His coming, harmony is established on a spiritual basis.

Miscellany Club in Opening Meet

The Irwindale Miscellany club held its first meeting of the new year on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Elizabeth Elston, Mrs. W. R. Schrey and Mrs. William Goodrich were assistant hostesses. The members spent the afternoon making plans for the year, and tying a comfort.

Several changes in the program were made. In place of reciprocity day there is to be an additional all-day meeting, making five during the year, with two members from adjoining clubs invited as guests each time. The hostesses for the dinners will be chosen by lot, instead of sections, as heretofore.

Edison Reports Steady California Industrial Growth

By R. H. BALLARD
Executive Vice-President and General Manager Southern California Edison Company

Southern California's industrial progress continues to hold the interest of those who study business conditions. There is a steady growth in all of our communities, and particularly in those where attention is focused on manufacturing. In the reports of the Edison company the demand for electricity for power purposes stands out as the most significant item of the year.

Present indications are that the total amount of new business at the Edison system for 1927 will exceed 200,000 horsepower, of which considerably more than one-third comes under the head of "industrial." That a number of large factories and also a multitude of smaller enterprises have become established in Southern California recently is indicated by our statistics, which show a total of 2138 power meters set in the last 12 months.

DEMAND GAINS

The total connected load of the Southern California Edison company as of Sept. 1, is 1,581,751 horsepower, a gain of 131,433 horsepower in eight months since January 1. Of this, 400,000 horsepower is classed as "industrial"—a very heavy figure for a section which has been called a playground. It is still a playground, to be sure, but it is also an industrial center which is attracting the attention of keen-eyed business men throughout America.

Next to industrial power, the most significant items in our reports are those which show the increased use of electricity in the home. Electric ranges with a total demand of 31,000 horsepower have been added in the last 12 months. Our sales department is now working on the full range campaign with the expectation of selling 1000 electric ranges in six weeks. Electric refrigerators, water heaters, vacuum cleaners, washers and irons have also enjoyed splendid sales throughout the year and in all parts of the territory.

GROWS IN POPULARITY

These two items of power in industry and in the home show that electricity is constantly receiving greater recognition as the agency which is taking the drudgery out of our lives. I was amused recently to read that the shoe manufacturers plan to urge our people to "wear more shoes"; apparently our lives have become so luxurious that we do not wear out our shoes as fast as we should.

Judge Appleton, vice-president of the General Electric company, visited in Los Angeles last week and reminded me that the industrial revolution grows wider year after year, that there is no apparent limit to the sale of labor-saving devices and that the constantly advancing standard of living will continue to demand a greater use of electricity. For example, the recent interest in aviation is showing a market for electricity that has not existed until recently. Generous illumination is required at airports. Aerial highways will soon be marked by bright beacons and many other applications of electricity, such as radio, will accompany our advance in flying.

CONSUMPTION EXPANDS

In the oil fields the demand for power is an increasing one, as the advantages of this silent power are becoming recognized. Only last week more than 2000 horsepower in motors were added to our lines.

Highway lighting is receiving a great deal of attention at present and it will not be long until plans for the complete lighting of all our major highways are made public. These will be welcomed by motorists because of the added safety of night driving which adequate lighting affords.

Looking ahead, I see nothing but increased business for the electrical industry and increased prosperity for all our territory because electricity has become an indispensable factor in our lives—at home, in the office, factory and shop—even in our play.

Football Rules Given for Fans

As there are a number of new football rules this year that are not understood by everyone attending the games, the Argus is publishing the major changes:

1. Goal posts placed ten yards back to end of end zone. Makes try for extra point more difficult. Field appears twenty yards longer. Touchdown line is ten yards in front of goal posts.

2. Penalty for players in motion increased to fifteen yards as a means of enforcing full stop on shift plays.

3. Change in backward or lateral pass rule so that ball becomes dead in all such passes except those from center whenever there is a fumble and ball remains in possession of offensive side, except on fourth down.

4. After a fumble by a safety man of a punt ball becomes dead if recovered by one on kicker's side, but remains in his possession. Prevents running to touchdown after recovering fumble.

5. Captains may call for only three times out each half without penalty.

6. Delays in huddle or in putting ball in play are guarded against more stringently.

FAMILY REUNION

A family reunion was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Scofield, when they entertained all their children and grandchildren at dinner. There were present Mr. and Mrs. George B. Scofield, two children and Mrs. J. H. Bowne, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Temple and son of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Ethel Scofield and baby of Pomona, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Scofield and two sons, Dr. and Mrs. Claude Seary and son, and Sam and Bob Scofield.

Covina People Return From Long Auto Trip

Mr. and Mrs. W. Q. Custer and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Bowdway returned home Sunday night from a tour of the country by automobile. Although the trip was not taken hurriedly and several stops were made, the party, which left Covina August 18th, covered 10,000 miles in 40 days.

The first stop was at the birthplace of Mr. Custer, near Cincinnati. The old brick house that marked his birth and early childhood, although unoccupied, was still intact. Going north and east, on the way to Maine, Niagara was visited, and a thirty-mile ride enjoyed on the Canadian side.

Two weeks were enjoyed at Bangor, Maine, the birthplace of both Mr. and Mrs. Bowdway. Through the courtesy of a relative, several interesting side trips were taken, including a visit to Moosehead lake and Lake Umbagog. These lakes are in what was at one time a dense forest and were accessible only by a 75-mile auto ride, 25 miles by boat, 15 miles on a "Casey Jones," and another five miles by water to Lake Umbagog. This vast acreage is covered with a second growth of timber which is owned by a huge paper concern and is being cut to be transformed into paper.

Washington, Boston, Vicksburg, Miss., Mobile, Alabama, and other large cities were visited. Eventful spots in American history were seen, including the place where Washington crossed the Delaware, and his headquarters at Brandywine.

The most pathetic scene, Mr. Custer says, was a fifty-mile stretch before entering Miami, Florida, with the hundreds of unoccupied homes and abandoned, partly finished houses or buildings at the starting point, sidewalks and streets laid out for miles, electric lamps and water mains—all representing millions of dollars squandered in the boom.

The Florida everglades are attracting the attention of capitalists, an attempt being made to reclaim 3000 acres. Already the company has spent $13,000,000 on this tract of rich peat soil, and is just starting in on another $20,000,000 allotment.

Trace of the flood was particularly seen near Vicksburg, the watermarks on the houses for a stretch of 25 miles being from 2 to 10 feet high, according to the elevation of the ground. The finest agricultural sections crossed were in Kansas and northern Ohio.

was encountered in passing from Columbus to Cleveland, where, in a distance of 100 miles, the white crosses by the roadside which mark the victims of speeding averaged one to every three miles.

West Covina

W. R. Seary of Orange avenue escaped a bad accident Tuesday morning, while on his way to Baldwin Park. Mr. Seary was out of his car talking to a man across the street, when a truck ran into his machine, completely wrecking it.

Mrs. S. L. Watts of Merced avenue had as guests Tuesday an aunt, Mrs. E. E. Warren of Oklahoma, and Mrs. Henry Brodek of Los Angeles.

Frank Dickerson of Van Nuys was a guest at the John Van Buskirk home on Monday.

Mrs. C. A. Roberts entertained the six members of the Cherry Blossom group of Campfire girls at supper and a slumber party Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Larner of Sunset avenue had as callers Sunday Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Stevens, formerly of Covina.

Mrs. J. E. Campbell, Miss Christel Levine and Mr. Laverne Campbell were guests over the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Miller of Anaheim at their cabin at Big Bear lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Woods of Pasadena were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Harris on Vincent street.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lang were Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Glassbrook and two children and Mrs. Brittle of Los Angeles.

Mrs. H. L. Pierson of Monrovia was a guest Tuesday of Mrs. J. W. Larner of Sunset avenue.

Mrs. Nellie Thornton and family of Huntington Park and Miss Margaret Roberts of Buffalo were dinner guests Sunday of Mrs. Mamie Barker and Mrs. Augusta Lambertson.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Baldosser and Miss Cora Grafton attended the flower show at Montebello on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Harris, Miss Irene Harris and Miss Mildred Raddack attended the Riverside fair on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Clara Ayers, Mrs. C. A. Roberts and Mrs. T. B. Hurley and two sons were guests Monday at a party that Mrs. Lee Bashore of Pomona gave to celebrate the fifth birthday of her son, Glen.

Mrs. B. F. Maxson and four daughters were guests over the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McIntosh at Colton. While there they attended the Riverside fair.

Miss Rose Miller of Baldwin Park and Miss Vera Rowland were luncheon guests Saturday of Miss Della Reynolds of North Whittier Heights.

Readers of the Argus recall the entire trip was due to a minor accident. A chunk of gravel thrown by a motorbus traveling at a fast rate of speed hit the end of the windshield, shattering the glass.

Azusa's Arcade Building Modern Type for Stores

The 202-foot unbroken arcade front on Azusa avenue, Azusa, is now nearing its completion stage. Suspended from the center of the ceiling forming an arcade will be ten brilliant electric lights. The ten stores are all plate glass fronts. Thus, this arcade front, said to be the longest building under one ownership within a radius of a hundred miles, will form an attractive appearance on this business avenue.

"Arcade Building, Azusa Improvement Company, Owners," will be the wording on the front of the arcade. L. Case of the Case Realty company, who is handling the building for the owners, says that it will be maintained strictly as an "arcade," and that no two businesses within it will be allowed to conflict. His company has declined several applications for space to carry out this policy. However, he anticipates that all space will be taken by different lines of business, perhaps by the time the block is completed.

Buick tests at that time had shown that oil changes would never be necessary, with the Oil Filter to remove impurities, and with the Crankcase Ventilator, Thermostatic Circulation Control and Automatic Heat Control to prevent oil dilution. Now, more than a year has passed, and Buick owners in every section of the world—under every climatic condition—have also proved that you never need change your oil if you own a Buick—replenishment and inspection of the Buick Oil Filter only are required.

Los Angeles County's Budget—

For the fiscal year of 1927-28, the budget prepared by the Los Angeles county board of supervisors, under the supervision of County Auditor H. A. Payne, which is off the press this week, shows that this county is prepared to spend $33,913,984 in the period from July first of this year to June 30 of next year. This is irrespective of flood control expenditures, which are a separate bonding tax upon a district slightly smaller than the county itself.

It is scarcely believable that this huge sum is available annually, especially when one reflects upon the struggles of past decades, when the county was sparsely settled and poorly improved. Today the county contains within it one of the great and major cities of America, with many other cities with more population than some states can claim. At the same time, although settling rapidly to all points of the compass, the county retains first place in the United States in agriculture and fruit raising.

It is interesting that for general government $8,816,302 is anticipated as the expenditure; it will cost $385,750 for general supervision through the various activities of the board of supervisors; $488,915 to audit all departments; $106,440 to operate the treasurer's office; $1,097,720 to make up the assessment roll; $455,082 to collect the taxes; $481,800 for the district attorney; $120,980 for the county counsel; $42,860 for the public defender; $95,285 for the civil service commission; $955,229 for the surveyor; $51,070 for the regional planning commission; $339,780 for registrar of voters; $234,230 for supervisors to canvass the elections; $551,440 for the county's portion of the municipal court expense; $109,836 for township justice courts; $104,256 for maintenance of municipal court at Long Beach; $573,491 for superior courts; $56,600 for the grand jury; $416,965 for the county clerk; $95,550 for coroner; $936,880 for the sheriff; $151,720 for execution of court orders; $216,505 for township constabulary; $223,472 for motor patrol; $704,726 for the recorder; $49,670 for registrar of titles; $23,485 for public administrator; $10,000 for farm advisor; $427,519 for fish, game and fire warden; $149,985 for the forester; $259,825 for horticultural commissioner; $81,820 for livestock inspector; $58,485 for sealer of weights and measures; $3,271,880 for health and sanitation; highways and bridges, $2,654,000; charities, hospitals and corrections, $12,098,177; public welfare commission, $10,275; superintendent of charities, $31,340; care of dependent children, $350,000; burial of poor, $10,682; poor farm, $2,291,345; state hospital appropriations, $81,750; state reform schools, $103,000; psychopathic court wards, $100,000; custody of prisoners (jails), $491,350; detention camp, $134,505; wages to prisoners, $20,000; juvenile hall, $665,466; El Retiro school, $75,595; probation committee, $6,195; supervision of court wards, $251,845; relief of blind in county, $45,000; board of education, $7,400; superintendent of schools, $101,635; visual education, $31,478; Otis art institute, $47,992; free library, $302,084; law library, $59,075; recreation (parks, stadium and museum), $901,500; exposition (exhibits and contributions to fairs), $223,000; interest and redemption of debt, $899,000. There are other items, but these are the principal ones. It is interesting to note that the lowest appropriation is for the bee inspector, which is one dollar. Comment on this budget will doubtless be plentiful, as coming from our old friend, John W. Taxpayer. However, a printed budget cannot be the foundation for intelligent criticism, as many of the departmental appropriations are to a large degree offset by moneys returning to the treasury.

Nearly thirty-four million dollars as a budget for a single year is quite a wad of money, however, especially for a county that fifty years ago was largely a desert. Perhaps the best commentary would be that we should be glad that we've got the money to spend, but on the other hand, it is no doubt more than a probability that we might profit by a rigid tax and expenditure survey to stop the leaks and to divert money, in some instances, into channels more profitable for progress.

Newspaper Valuations—

To the newspaper man from the east, the ever-increasing prices at which California newspapers are being sold are a source of constant wonder. Over the nation as a whole, mergers are the order of the day. It is authoritatively predicted that there will be one hundred more mergers of American dailies during the next few months. The one-newspaper idea is spreading even to cities of the hundred thousand population class.

Increasing costs of production tell the story. This writer, during the past four months, has given some study to the newspaper fields, at Santa Monica, San Bernardino and Santa Ana. San Bernardino has two newspapers controlled by the same interests. The other two cities have but one newspaper.

In each of those three cities there are numerous individuals who believe their community interests would be better served with another newspaper.

The demand, however, in no one case is based on business judgment or even a faint conception of the cost entailed today in competing with a newspaper already efficiently serving its community.

Political interests in the main stir up the desire for a second paper and not the merchants whose advertising pays the bills.—Huntington Beach News.

French Tariff Walls—

Some of the big public journals of this country seem to be deeply hurt because France is arranging a high tariff wall on certain articles and commodities made in the United States. A few of these editorial writers are prone to translate this contemplated move into an unfriendly act.

According to one great American political party, the thing that has aided most in making America great commercially has been this country's protective tariff policy. This sorrowful attitude toward the French republic has a little of the sardonic flavor to it. France would like to do what America has done, and for the same reason—to rehabilitate its industries. If America can furnish better goods and meet French prices, this country will climb over the tariff wall. That is what France has to do in landing goods on our shores. There are a flock of old aphorisms and saws that come to mind, such as "What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander," "It's a poor rule that won't work both ways," and "It depends altogether on whose ox is gored."

Early Days in Covina

TEN YEARS AGO

A serious accident to Covina people occurred in the Calabasas mountains when three machines were run into by a truck. The party was returning from a hunting trip. The Gerhart machine, in the lead, was struck by the truck. The force of the crash threw the truck across the road and the second machine, driven by J. P. Overholzer, crashed into it, demolishing the smaller vehicle. Harley Garrison had a broken jaw and was rushed to the San Bernardino hospital.

All-day carnival tomorrow to welcome Covina soldiers. Covina city and valley will celebrate the visit of its boys in khaki. Three cars loaded with the twelfth company coast artillery, with regimental band, will be guests of the day. During the morning sports, coins will be thrown to the children by the merchants. An automobile obstacle race by garage men and auto agents, on Citrus avenue. Large purse to the man who knocks down the least number of barrels.

World's record in nut prices. Southern California's walnut crop will pay the growers $6,000,000 this year. Prices are the highest ever paid for California walnuts, 20 cents for No. 1 softshells, 16 cents for No. 2, and 24 cents a pound for fancy banded stock.

Mrs. W. W. Nash returned home Saturday from a visit to the New England states. While there she accompanied her son, Robert Stebbins, to Boston, where he entered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, to enter on a course of engineering.

Miss Dorothy Bixby and her brother, Arthur, attended the wedding of Waldo Bemis in Pasadena on Thursday. Mr. Bemis is a graduate of the high school of Covina, and since that time has pursued his art studies.

Ward A. Hays has just completed a 1100-mile journey in a Buick car, arriving in Covina Monday morning from Salt Lake City.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Rev. S. H. Enyeart, for the past three years pastor of the Methodist church, has accepted a position as field secretary for the Anti-Saloon league. Rev. Enyeart will be succeeded by Rev. H. W. Peck of Arizona.

The Covina sub-station of the San Gabriel Electric Power company was destroyed by fire at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. The blaze was hot and roaring, as the building contained 100 gallons of oil used in the transformers and for a few minutes was in imminent danger. The town Wednesday night was in a state of semi-darkness, many resorting to the light of their grandmothers, the reliable tallow candle.

A runaway horse with an infant 20 months old clinging to the buggy seat caused considerable consternation Sunday morning. The animal was stopped by J. W. Kline and the child returned to its parents. The mother, Mrs. J. W. Robinson, was holding the horse by the lines in front of the residence when the animal became frightened.

Dr. F. J. Cline has purchased ten acres of the Rudlock property, immediately adjoining the grave of A. P. Korchoff on the east of town. A twenty-acre orange grove just west of Azusa avenue, the property of Houser brothers, has been sold to T. E. Finch and L. L. Rakefin for $14,000 cash.

City Marshal L. C. Fairly received a dispatch yesterday stating that George Robinson, formerly of Covina, had been killed on the wharf of Redondo that morning. No other information was obtainable.

Saturday evening of last week the members of the Covina Tennis club were entertained at the home of Mrs. W. M. Griswold by Miss Nina Martin, teacher in the Covina high school.

The quail season opened Wednesday and our local sportsmen were early in the field. Rev. J. W. Utter secured the record for the day, returning home with the limit, 25 quail.

Dam Excavation Plans Believed Good Solution

The Glendora Gleaner says editorially:

"The plan proposed by Engineer Eaton for work on the San Gabriel dam seems the most sensible of all plans yet proposed. This in brief is to go ahead with the work of clearing the site, which is an immense job in itself, and after this is done, the amount of money left will determine the type of dam to be built. 'If there is money to build a high dam, let that be built; if there is not, then build the low dam. There seems to be plenty of evidence that the low dam will meet every need of the dam. But if there is money enough left, let the high dam be built, then there will be no question of its fulfilling the needs of the valley.

"The time has come to forget petty politics and proceed to build the dam. The supervisors are ready. All they want is to get rid of a lot of petty lawsuits. The courts are now aroused over the matter and are deciding in favor of complying with the desires of the valley rather than with a lot of knockers who want their own way without regard to the benefits of the people of the whole valley. The Gleaner, with the great majority, has no quarrel with the

He Never Knew The Value Of His Discovery

IN America's tribute to Columbus, there is true appreciation of his achievement. His daring and his genius changed the course of world affairs. Others who followed had his example as a guide.

But Columbus himself could not have known the real value of his feat. His voyage, 435 years ago—his defiance of superstitions and ignorance—his winning to this hemisphere—were great accomplishments.

Columbus showed that vision and faith can overcome all obstacles and accomplish wonders. Here is a lesson for each one today—in business, in home making, in life itself.

Essex Breaks Record for Its Jumping Power

Mrs. P. G. Adams of 1502 Fifth avenue, Los Angeles, had the thrill of her life Wednesday afternoon when her automobile took the embankment surrounding the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Searcy at the corner of Covina boulevard and Orange avenue, jumping 36 feet, pitching on its nose, turning a somersault and then landing on its side in the flower beds surrounding the house.

The lady was returning from a hunting trip at Big Bear and while driving at a high rate of speed attempted to pass a car at the intersection. Unfortunately, there was another car in the lead which was turning onto Orange avenue off Covina boulevard, and in her attempt to miss this car she took the embankment and made the record leap as recorded above. Her car was an Essex coach. Mr. and Mrs. Searcy rushed out of the house and found the woman still grasping the wheel firmly and sitting upright in the shattered car. She miraculously escaped with minor bruises and a rather severe cut on her face. The fact that the car landed in soft ground is possibly the only reason that she is alive to tell the tale.

This is the second wreck at this corner this week. Mr. Searcy's car, which was a Hudson, was wrecked the week before.

The front of his residence having been struck by a Cudahy meat truck only the day previous. The car was badly damaged.

MRS. HAVLIN HOME FROM THREE MONTHS IN EAST

Mrs. M. Havlin arrived home last week Wednesday from a three months' trip to Chicago and West Virginia. She went first to Seattle and from there by boat to Vancouver, B. C. From there she traveled by the Canadian Pacific east, stopping for a few days at Lake Louise.

Mrs. Havlin visited with a brother in Ohio for a month and with a sister at Terre Haute, Indiana, a month. On the way home she visited in St. Louis and Dallas, Texas. While in Ohio she was a guest at a big family reunion.

DANCING AND CARDS

The recent party given by the Sacred Heart church at the Shultis hall in Baldwin Park was attended by over two hundred. Johnson's four-piece orchestra furnished music for dancing and prizes were awarded for the best waltzers. Both bridge and five hundred were played, for the former Mr. George Hatley winning the gentlemen's first prize and Mrs. Rudolph Brunet the ladies' first prize. For five hundred Mr. Dobbin won first prize, Mrs. Brunet, Sr., the ladies' first prize, and Mrs. Hatley the consolation.

This is the first of several of these parties that the church will give during the winter months.

Mill Work and Cabinet Shop Is Opened Here

Completely reorganized, in a new building with additional machinery, the Covina Mill and Cabinet shop opened yesterday for business at its new location at 159 Geneva Place. The shop is within a stone's throw of the Kerckhoff-Cuzner company and Vincy-Milliken lumber companies, and the new owner is F. C. McCandless, well known for years to the people of the upper San Gabriel valley.

Mr. McCandless has been making a special study of cabinet work, inside finishings and porch and lawn furniture for a number of years, and has purchased the business from A. W. Feist, who ran the business as the Covina Planing Mill for many years. The new owner said this week that he is not in the contracting business, but will devote his entire time to mill work. He is not connected with any lumber yard, he said yesterday, and will not engage in any outside work except where an article made in the mill requires setting up.

The building is 50 by 60, of galvanized iron, with a 14-foot cabinet shop in the rear. It is equipped with band saw, two planes, variety saw, swing cut-off saw, rip-saw, joiner, and other modern tools of this trade.

AUTOMOBILE THIEVES OPERATING IN COVINA

A series of automobile thefts have occurred during the past week, all having the stamp of local joy-riders. Saturday night the car of E. A. Weegar was taken from his garage in the rear of his residence on Badillo street, and subsequently located at Hollenbeck, where it was abandoned on account of lack of gas.

Sunday evening a new automobile belonging to Hugh Porram of Charter Oak was taken from in front of the Episcopal church while the family was attending service. The car was later found, abandoned, on West Badillo street. The speedometer showed it had been driven 60 miles. Several small articles of accessories had been removed from the car.

COVINA WOMAN AND SON RETURN FROM GERMANY

Mrs. Arno Rauschenbach and son, Rudolph, returned Sunday from a visit to Saxony, Germany. Mr. and Mrs. Rauschenbach left Germany fourteen years ago, shortly after their marriage, and this is the first trip back to the homeland.

Saxony is in central Germany, one of the principal cities being Dresden.

Mrs. Rauschenbach and her son left Covina on the 28th of last May. After spending three months visiting, they sailed for the United States September 14th, arriving in New York on the 26th.

"Prep" School Wins Ball Game

California Preparatory school opened its football season Thursday of last week with a victory over Emerson high school of Pomona. Emerson brought over a light but very fast team and the "Prep" boys had a hard time holding them, especially in the first half. There was no score in the first half, the ball going first to one team and then the other. Each lost the ball on downs.

The second half started off with a bang. Cal-Prep kicked off to Emerson and Emerson lost the ball on downs. Then Parkin made a long end run, fumbling the ball, but recovering it five yards behind the line of scrimmage. Malone got away for a long run around left end and Wooster carried the ball over for the first touchdown, but the ball was not converted. Another unconverted touchdown was made before the quarter ended. In the fourth quarter Cal-Prep walked over Emerson for another touchdown which was converted, the game ending with a score of 19 to 0.

Azusa Trustees Award Contract for City Hall

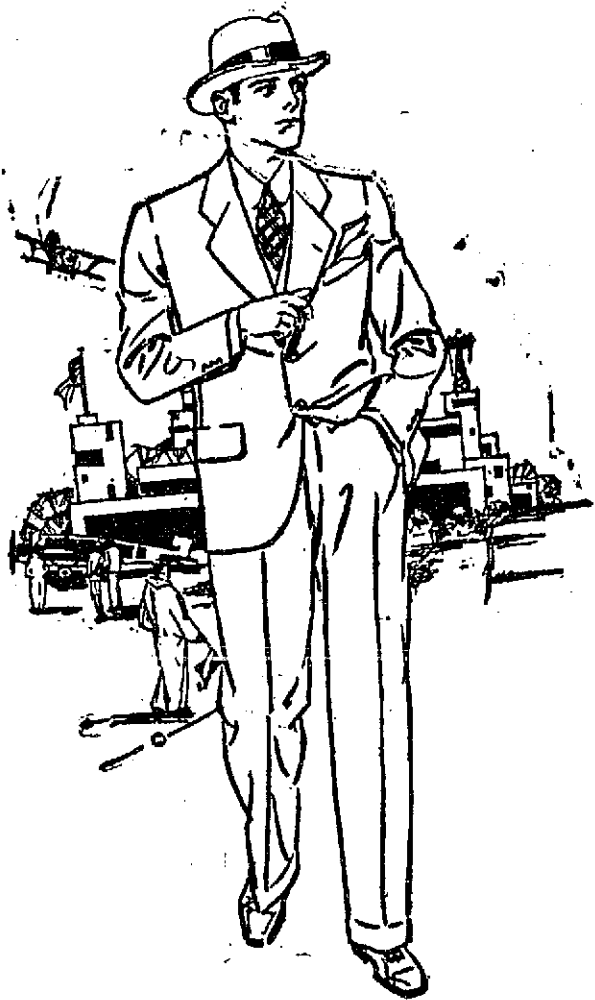

Azusa Herald: Contract has been awarded for Azusa's new municipal building. This action was taken by the city council Monday night when seven building constructors submitted bids. The bids ranged from $71,771 down to $60,300 for the structure without any revisions or eliminations, and from $67,347 down to $45,000 with certain stipulated omissions of original features included in the building designs.

H. F. Jones of Pasadena was the contractor to whom award was made at $53,700. This figure includes some of the features which it was thought necessary to leave out in order to come within the bond issue provision.

It is announced that active work on this new city hall is to be inaugurated without further delay.

Another Step in Development

Extending the service of this store to the men and youth of this community who want to buy a good looking, dependable suit of clothes or overcoat for twenty-five dollars.

For the past two years we have been investigating several makes of men's clothing, trying to make a permanent selection of a line that would combine dependable woollens, durable tailoring and attractive patterns, and which we could sell for a lower price than our high grade Hart Schaffner and Marx line. The result of our very careful comparisons, together with the experience of other good stores in California, is or with two pair of trousers for $30.00

The Store for Men and Boys

You cannot buy a better suit or overcoat for $25.00

because we know from investigation that the clothing markets of the United States produce no better line for the money. Every garment carries the maker's, as well as our own, guarantee of 100 per cent pure woollens and dependable tailoring. The styles and patterns we submit are new each season.

Pianos Out of Tune

Eight-tenths of the pianos in this country are always out of tune, according to the president of the national association of piano tuners, with the result that many thousands of dollars of the $900,000,000 spent annually for musical education are wasted. He explains that when the instrument is out of tune, the student's ear is likely to be harmfully affected.

Nearly everybody in Covina reads the Argus.

Buy EDISON SECURITIES and Hold Them!

THE consensus of opinion in the Financial Press of America is that, due to the tremendous supplies of money on hand, investors, over the next few years, will be satisfied with an average return of 5% on high grade securities.

Should these predictions materialize, holders of Edison Securities would be in an even more enviable position than at present.

For Example:

Edison 7% Preferred on a 5% basis would sell for $35.00 per share.

Edison 6% Preferred on a 5% basis would sell for $29.75 per share.

Edison 5½% Preferred on a 5% basis would sell for $27.50 per share.

THORPE SAYS EVERYTHING IN HOLY LAND RECALLS INCIDENTS OF BIBLE LORE

Grand Hotel D'Orient, Damascus, Syria, Sept. 4, 1927.

Dear Argus: Palestine beckons to the Bible student as does no other country in the world, and he can scarce resist becoming a pilgrim to its many sacred shrines. All of the Holy Land is interesting, for it vibrates at every turn with some suggestion or beautiful passage of the Bible.

The Rev. J. Wilson Chapman, D.D., says "That man is to be envied who still has in prospect a journey to the Holy Land, for the Bible has become a new book to me," and after seven days of strenuous sightseeing in the land made famous by Him who came to save us all, I fully agree with Dr. Chapman.

We left Cairo on the night train for Jerusalem. After crossing the Suez canal on a ferry boat, past many of the New Zion colonies now coming to the land of Palestine to make a new home, we arrived in the Holy City at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. We fought off a small army of porters and hotel runners and jumped into a carriage for the Grand hotel. It is just outside the old Joppa gate through which General Allenby rode after his bloodless conquest of the Turks during the English war, and we are once more on English soil.

Jerusalem was seven times entirely destroyed by her enemies, and now we are in the eighth city that has risen from her ashes, and although ruin has been heaped high upon ruin, there is still a melancholy grandeur above the city that is honored above all others as the capital of the religious world that grows on you the longer you stay here.

Most people fail to realize how small the country of Palestine is. From Jaffa on the Mediterranean sea to Jerusalem is only forty miles, and the whole country from east to west is only 200 miles and about 75 wide—not as large as many of our countries in America. Yet this, one of the smallest of all countries, is the country to which Christian, Jew, Muslim, Greek and Moslem turn with adoring devotion and desire.

Jaffa, the port of Jerusalem, is one of the oldest in the world and still the most important in Palestine. Here it was that Hiram, king of Tyre, brought the cedars for the building of Solomon's temple. It was here that old Jonah came to find the ship that was to deliver him to the belly of the whale, as well as the home of Simon the Tanner and of Dorcas.

We made the trip from Jaffa to Jerusalem past the flourishing city of Tel-Aviv, a Jew colony of all new and modern houses, and some 15,000

Jews, some from America. Here we saw new orange orchards that looked in splendid condition and set with heavy crop of fruit and clean and free from pests. Irrigation was by pumped water from wells 60 to 80 feet deep, with good cement head ditches for distributing the water. They seem to be making a very serious mistake in planting the trees 10 to 15 feet apart. They plant eucalyptus trees for windbreaks and rows of banana trees and date palms border the orchards, giving the country a very tropical appearance.

At Jerusalem it was my pleasure to meet Professor Ryerson of the department of agriculture of our state university, who has been here several months doing some citrus crop investigation and assisting the growers in this new line of horticulture here. He inquired kindly about Louie Matthews and George Aschenbrenner of Covina.

Jerusalem is a very old city! When Abraham returned from driving the kings of the plains he met Melchizedek, king of Salem, the priest of the most high God, and in the book of Judges we learn the name of the Holy City was Jebus, and the present name of Jerusalem was evolved from Jebusalem, for the sake of euphony. Its early history is one of war and conquest. It was captured by David and made capital of his kingdom. Under his reign and that of Solomon it became one of the mightiest and most magnificent cities of the world, though destined to be such for a short time only. Indeed, so completely has it been destroyed at different times that historians claim that to find the floors of the first building you would have to excavate 125 feet. Just now while we are here, the streets are filled with rocks and debris from the destruction of the earthquake of July of this year, which took a toll of 355 lives.

We arrived on Sunday morning and in the afternoon took a walk down David street with its dirty, smelly markets and very narrow, to the walls of King Solomon's temple, on one side of which the Jews were doing their regular weekly "walling," crying, kissing fervently the smooth rocks, as they have done for centuries past. From the "Wailing Wall," as it is called, we walked again through the crooked and narrow streets to the Coptic church, supposed to be the site of Calvary, where the crucifixion took place, and now having a building called the "Church of the Holy Sepulchre," on the site of an old temple to Venus built by the Romans 125 A. D. It is a veritable church museum, there being over 30 sacred sites within its walls on a plot of ground 350 by 280 feet. Here the Roman Catholic, Greek, Armenian, Serbian and Coptic all hold religious services every Sunday and Turkish guards at the door hold the key. It was a very impressive and weird sight to watch these different religious orders conduct their services on the site of the crucifixion.

The next day we took a motor trip to Bethlehem, the place of Nativity, where we could see the spot that marked the birth of our dear Lord, as we had the evening before seen the place of his crucifixion.

We drove out through the Jaffa gate down the valley of Hinnom past the Hill of Evil Counsel and the plain of Ephraim, and we stopped to look at the wall of Magi, where the three wise men stopped to drink on their way to Bethlehem, and where they saw the star reflected in the water of the well. We also passed the tomb of Rachel, a very interesting spot.

Our first view of Bethlehem on the hillside was very inspirational. The little town with its houses very closely built together, has narrow streets. The women and children look much cleaner and neater than they do in the rest of Palestine, and all seem to have souvenirs ready to sell the tourists. The site of the birth of Christ, as well as the manger, are marked by a big church building, the two spots marked by tawdry brass ornaments and devoid of any resemblance to a stable in which the good book tells us he was born.

Bethlehem was the scene of the romance of Ruth and the home life of David, as well as the birthplace of Job, Asahel and Abishat, but its one preeminent importance is the place of the birth of Jesus. It is a Christian town, there being only 200 Moslems out of a population of 6000. In the afternoon we drove out to the Garden of Gethsemane, where we saw the old olive trees that have grown on the spot for countless centuries. One of these trees is above ten feet in diameter and 38 feet in circumference. From Gethsemane we had a splendid view of the Golden Gate in the old city wall. The part of Jerusalem inside the old city wall is only one-third of the area of Central park in New York city, so you can have some idea of how short distances are in the old city. We walked all over it one day as we could not use the auto inside the walls owing to the very narrow and crooked streets. But the camels and donkeys carried all the burden of the city and we often had to step inside some shop to let heavily laden camels or donkeys get past.

We motored to the Mount of Olives, where a wonderful view of Jerusalem and city was before us, with Bethlehem on the hill in the distance. While there is some uncertainty about most of the sites in Jerusalem, one is positively sure the Jerusalem mosque of Omar, or more properly named "Dome of the Rock," stands on the site of the small but beautiful temple of Solomon, and above its ruins the temple of Herod was erected, and on this same spot Abraham attempted to offer Isaac as a sacrifice. It is venerated by Jew, Moslem, and Christian as the greatest of all holy places. The mosque is the most beautiful in Asia, being octagonal in form, each side being 66 feet wide, fairly glittering on the outside with richly colored marble and tiles, with a dome of perfect dimensions and exquisite proportions, the summit of the dome being 125 feet above the floor and a prominent part of the landscape of Jerusalem, and lends great dignity to the scene.

The main feature of the interior is the rock itself, directly under the dome, marking the site of the great altar for burnt offerings. It is 57 feet long and 43 feet wide, enclosed by an iron rail, and traces of the conduits cut in the rock to carry off the blood can still be seen. Here are also the stables of King Solomon in which the Knights Templar meet at times. Here it is claimed that Masonry was founded.

We went to the quarries of King Solomon where the rock was quarried for the temple and walked far back into the tunnels and chambers. Here Masonic meetings are sometimes held. We also saw the house of Pilate. The tower of David was just across from our hotel window. The famous street of Via Dolorosa leads outside St. Stephen's gate just to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. The street of David and the Damascus road are the two principal streets.

Modern Jerusalem is governed by a British high commissioner, Lord Palmer, who is doing much to improve conditions. Taxes have been reduced and many imposts removed. The revenue of $11,000,000. Education is being provided and a teacher is furnished free for any community providing a building. A teachers' training school for men and women has been established and fifteen hospitals are in operation.

The country is generally very rough and hilly and the bedrock in evidence on the surface everywhere. The hills and plains are covered with loose stone and rocks and the farms are all very small, with walls enclosing them, made from the rocks picked up off the lands. Our very worst rocky land anywhere in the vicinity of Covina, Arizona or Glendora would be fine farming land over here. It does not seem possible that any farmer could make a living off these stone piles, yet thousands of them are doing so. They live in small villages and go out and till their small farms by day. Goats are very numerous, and camels and donkeys doing the hauling. We have seen camels carrying heavy steel rails on their backs, two to each camel, huge blocks of building stone, cut ready for placing, big bags of cement and sand, as well as the varied products of the land. At Haifa and Jaffa there is some very good level land with deep soil, and here we saw some splendid farm crops.

I learn from reliable information that on the whole the so-called Zionist movement is not yet a proved success and that the Jews who are coming to Palestine are not of a type to make a progressive community.

The people here dress just as they did in Christ's time, with turbans and robes of all materials, from silks to cotton, and the Moslems and Mohammedans all wear the red fez. Some dress in European clothes, others in flowing robes. Their women all wear heavy black veils over their faces when they go out on the streets and, look very sombre and uncomfortable in the hot sun. The girls marry when they are twelve years old.

We motored out to Jericho one day, stopping at the Disciples' well enroute and the Shepherds' inn on the road to the Dead sea. We all took a swim in the Dead sea, the waters of which are so salty we could not sink, and then took a clean bath in the River Jordan. We ate lunch in a shady grove on the banks of the Jordan, crossed the river in a row boat, a strong Swedish girl in our party doing the rowing very skillfully. We went to Jericho and had a cool drink from Elijah's fountain, which has flowed clear, pure water ever since it was turned from salt water to sweet in the Bible story. This spring flows a good stream, which is used to irrigate nearby orchards of oranges, lemons and bananas.

The Dead sea is 1300 feet below sea level and just as hot as our own Salton sea in July. Jerusalem is 2700 feet above sea level, so in going to the Dead sea, about 35 miles, we descended just 4000 feet. This trip rounded out a very full day. Our next trip was to Nazareth, going over the same old rocky road that He and His disciples trod, and stayed over night at this little village. Saw Joseph's carpenter shop and Mary's home. Here next day we drove down to Tiberias on the Sea of Galilee, 682 feet below sea level, but very fresh, clean water.

Here we had a little change in excitement. Our hotel was a two-story stone building and just below our windows, from which we were watching the films, a Pathe, of winter sports in Switzerland, the projecting machine set fire to the film and in an instant a big blaze of flame swept up past our window. The operator gave a leap and escaped in safety and we hastily shut our windows. They had no fire department in this city of 10,000 people and the police were as badly panic-stricken as the audience, and pandemonium broke loose for about 15 minutes, until the wooden box of a room for the projector fell over on the ground and was soon smothered in dust. I threw the first bucket of water on the fire from our window, but the pressure was so low it took about two minutes to fill a pail of water. The chambermaid of the hotel filled the buckets, the chief of police passed them along and I stood at the window. It was quite a thrill while it lasted and burned ten reels of film and ruined the project or.

The next day we had lunch put up and motored to the French-Syrian frontier, where our passports were examined and visa being O. K. we crossed the River Jordan at sea level and after 25 miles of rough, hilly country and few habitations we came to Damascus, a city of over 400,000 people. As we drove into the city we passed a regiment of Senegalese French troops, very black in oriental uniforms, but very modern weapons and equipment. A nifty military band marched at their head and played good military music. They were leaving for foreign service and filled several trains of cars. The French troops had quite a battle with the natives here last year and only conquered the city after several buildings had been wrecked. The barb wire entanglements and the trenches are still intact.

We are now leaving the Holy Land, although here we see the gate and wall where Paul escaped the fury of the Jews by being lowered from the wall in a basket. Our trip here has been most wonderfully impressive and we leave more firmly convinced that Palestine is truly the land of the Book, and that the Bible is the book of the land.

I must not close without mentioning the splendid work being done here by the American colony (we had tea there one evening and a delightful visit), and the Y. M. C. A. under Dr. Hart's leadership. He served us Arabian coffee the morning we called and told us of their wonderful work and plans for the new building on the 8½ acre site of land just outside the Holy City.

Adieu,
BEN F. THORPE.

Spiders Causing Damage to Groves

Red spiders are causing considerable damage to citrus groves, according to reports of growers. If they continue to increase in numbers in the future as they have in the last few weeks it is thought likely that special control measures will have to be adopted.

A dead grayish color of the leaves and fruit is said to be one of the first noticeable indications of spider work. Later the leaves lose color and drop if infestation is severe, and fruit fails to color properly. Scientists say that destruction of chlorophyll, which gives the green color, is the cause of loss of vitality in the tree following spider infestation. So rapidly do spiders increase that serious damage is often done before the grower is aware of the presence of any large number of the pests.

Authorities are practically unanimous in recommending refined oil emulsions for control of the pests. Reports have shown that the most effective materials when applied during the late summer and fall months control spiders throughout the entire winter and spring. Growers who have not yet treated their groves or who have not used refined oil emulsions as a part of their pest control program might do well to examine their trees for spider damage, it is suggested.

Special Services, Home-Coming at Brethren Church

Rev. D. R. McFadden has been preaching every night this week to large audiences in the Church of the Brethren. The Rev. McFadden is a preacher of note, having been in evangelistic and pastoral work for the past twenty-two years. The large audiences, not only from Covina, but also from the surrounding towns, are testimony to his gripping and forceful messages. The Rev. McFadden is of Irish descent and he has the deep conviction and pathos of his sturdy race on the little island. He will preach every night next week, except Saturday, at 7:30.

The Church of the Brethren will observe "home-coming day" Sunday. The Covina church is the first organized Church of the Brethren on the Pacific coast, having been organized in 1885. The home-coming on Sunday is for all those who have earlier or later held their membership in the Covina congregation and now living in other parts. A fitting program has been arranged for Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Basket lunch will be served in the church at the noon hour.

The Mothers' and Daughters' association of the church held its monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. Walter Kennedy, Charter Oak, last Wednesday afternoon. Rev. McFadden addressed the meeting.

Nearly everybody in Covina reads the Argus.

ASSOCIATION HOLDS RECEPTION FOR TEACHERS

Ladies of the Lark Ellen Parent-Teacher association gave a reception Friday evening at the schoolhouse for the teachers. Mr. Bailey, Miss Connell, Miss Harris, and Miss Shaver. Miss Arthur gave two piano numbers and Miss Dorothy Paddock read two numbers and the remainder of the evening was filled with games of an interesting nature. Sides were chosen for the evening and points were given each side and at the conclusion of the evening the side winning the lower number of points paid a penalty by serving the dainty repast to the winning side. There was a very good number who took this opportunity of meeting the new teachers.

COUNTRY CLUB DINNER

Among the pleasant informal affairs of the week-end was the Sunday dinner at the Mountain Meadows country club, attended by a number of club members and their friends, including Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Collins and guests, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Seofield, Miss Opal Searcy, O. M. Working, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Coles and party of friends of Covina, and Mr. and Mrs. William Bowring and Miss Bowring of Charter Oak.

Lon Chaney at Covina Theater Two More Days

Holding over from last night and continuing two more days, Friday and Saturday, the Covina theater is presenting the film, "Tell It To The Marines." This is another "Lon Chaney" picture, which are always good. Chaney plays a veteran sergeant in the new picture, with William Haines in the leading romantic male role and Eleanor Boardman as the heroine.

Sunday and Monday, Pauline Frederick is starred in the highly dramatic film story, "Josselyn's Wife." Miss Frederick is considered the outstanding dramatic actress on the screen today, and this film is said to perfectly fit her histrionic ability. The story as enacted by Miss Frederick is a well-told tale of a domestic triangle.

"The Road to Romance" is the alluring title of the picture for Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, and stars Ramon Novarro. The love story between Novarro and the charming and petite Marceline Day is paramount over all else.

Coming three days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week is the romance film, "Rose of the Golden West." All the glories of California, as it was under Spanish rule, is depicted on the screen in this picture.

Principal Gives College Entry Requirements

Admission to the universities and colleges from high schools has been a subject of controversy since the establishment of these institutions. The universities and colleges of the Atlantic coast require examinations on fifteen subjects for entrance. The middle-western schools departed from this system and formulated the plan of examining the high schools and placing them on an approved list.

These examinations consist of inspection of the quality of the teachers, the number of years in the high school course, the quality and quantity of equipment to do standard work, the library facilities, the discipline, together with the general tone of the school to do good work. In addition to this inspection, individual high schools are rated and classified as to the standard of work done by students who have been sent to the university.

The University of California and all other western universities have adopted this plan. Formerly when the student-body at the university was small, all graduates from an approved high school were admitted; but in the last fifteen years the universities and colleges have attempted to cut down on the number of students admitted and are making a campaign to admit only students who have demonstrated in their high school work that they are superior scholars. Therefore, the universities have laid down the regulations to the high schools not to send students to the universities unless they are capable of making fifteen units of credit, with no grades less than two, and preferably all ones.

Hundreds of boys and girls are sent home every year from the University of California because they cannot maintain the standard set by the university. The Covina union high school has had no student sent home from the University of California on account of scholarship in the past nine years, because the regulations have been closely adhered to.

Inspectors come each year from the University of California to the Covina union high school and check up on our faculty and equipment. A close check is made of our students who are attending the university.

Rating of a high school may be classified in two divisions; either the A or B division. Schools in the A division are of the highest standing. Schools in the B division lack some of the necessary qualifications and indicate work done by students at the university. Often schools are removed from the A division to the B division as a reprimand for sending poorly equipped students to the university.

Covina union high school is now in the A division and has been for the past nine years.

Private schools, such as Stanford University, University of Southern California, Mills college, University of the Pacific, Occidental, Pomona, Redlands, Whittier, La Verne, all have their own entrance requirements. Most of this list are admitting students who have made twelve units of a grade of one's and two's. Some of the private schools will admit pupils with lower grades on condition that the credits will be made up.

All of the colleges and universities are tightening up on the admission requirements and are catering to only the students of the ability to make the higher grades because of the great increase of college attendance. This has given a great stimulus to the junior college movement for the purpose of taking care of the student who has not met the university requirements.

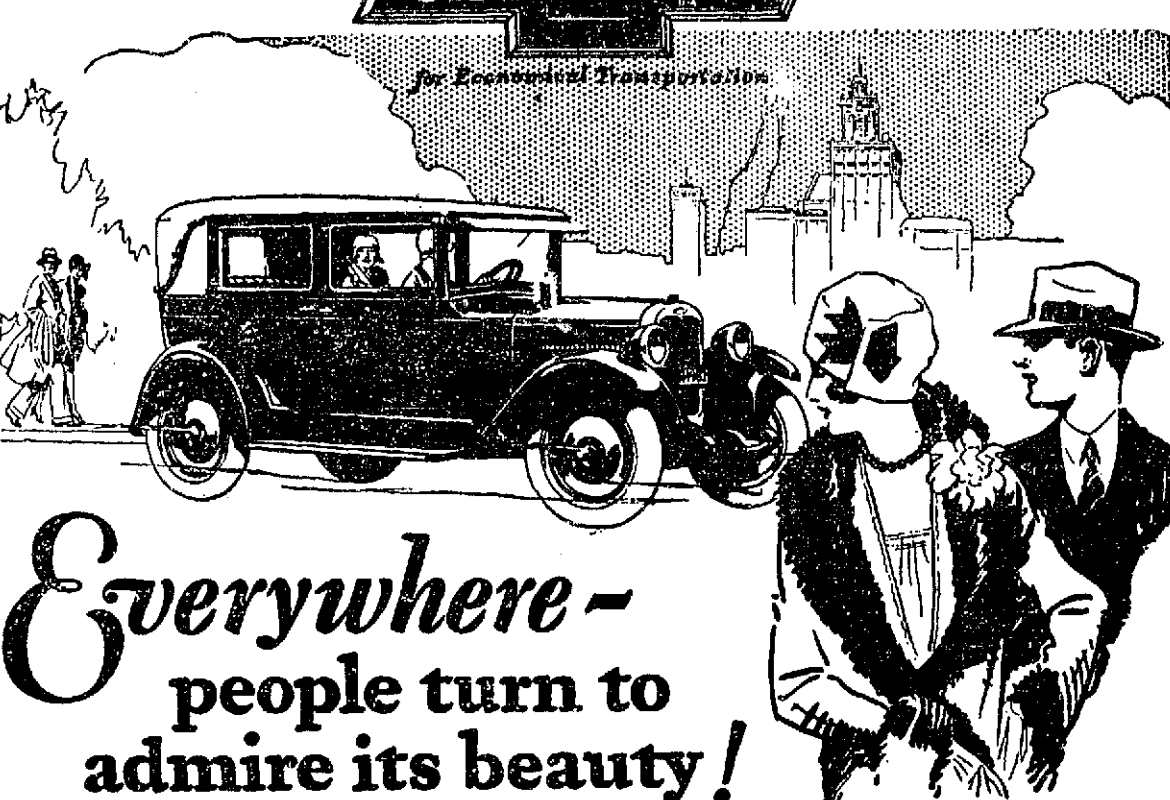

There has been an erroneous understanding about the privilege of a high school principal recommending a student to the university. The principal has no power or privilege to recommend a student to the university. The student has to earn his admission to the university by the quality of work he does in the high school.

If a parent has hopes of his daughter or son attending a college or the university, he should keep in touch with the principal or the faculty for consultation as to the ability and progress of the student, so that greater cooperation may be had to fit the student to meet the requirements of the desired institution.

"LOST PADRE" MINE IS FOUND AGAIN, BELIEF OF MOUNTAIN LAND OWNERS

A romance of the olden, golden days of California that touched for a time the broad acres of Lucky Baldwin's Santa Anita rancho and then shifted to the mountains south-east of San Diego's, on the Ridge route, has been revived with the announcement that the once famous "Lost Padre" mine has been found again, after a lapse of nearly a century, and that development work to uncover the long-lost vein of gold, declared to run as high as $5000 a ton, is now going forward.

It was Dr. B. F. Bragg, Kentucky horseman and friend of Lucky Baldwin's, who in 1876 came to Arcadia with a bunch of thoroughbreds from the Blue Grass country to sell them to the owner of Santa Anita rancho. It was while Dr. Bragg was in Arcadia that he was approached by an Indian who wanted a horse but who had no money to pay for it. He told Dr. Bragg that in return for a mount he would show him where the "Lost Padre" mine was. The mine had been, according to the story, located in 1840 by an Indian and worked by the mission fathers, who in three years, according to the legend, took out a cool million in gold.

But one day the tunnel caved in, burying fifteen Indians, and the rest refused to go back. So the padres filled up the tunnel and concealed the entrance to the mine, which remained "lost" until the doctor made his deal with the Indian 24 years later. The property was re-located and it is declared that Dr. Bragg and his associates took out $750,000 in two years. But death again followed the footsteps of the miners, for an Irish foreman went amuck, killed four men and flung their bodies into the shaft. Dr. Bragg escaped, but the mine was somehow "lost" again. Just before his death Dr. Bragg told Miss Annie L. Rose, now owner of the property, where the mine could be located.

After many disappointments Miss Rose and B. E. Miller of Pomona succeeded, as they believe, in locating for a third time the missing mine and are now confident they will soon uncover the mother lode, and the tunnel in which the earlier miners worked. Gold-bearing rock of high value, rich enough to show the metal to the naked eye, has been discovered in the workings already uncovered, it is said.
